7. New conclusions of the dissertation:

First, the dissertation contributes to clarifying the concept, contents, and modes of implementation of social housing policies for industrial zone workers by the Ho Chi Minh City government.

Second, the dissertation clarifies the current situation and draws several practical lessons from the process of implementing social housing policies for industrial zone workers by the city government. Notably, a breakthrough practical lesson lies in effectively assigning responsibilities and coordinating the activities of stakeholders involved in the implementation of social housing policies for industrial zone workers, thereby contributing to improving the effectiveness of policy implementation in practice.

Third, based on the assessment of the current situation and the clarification of the causes of both strengths and limitations, the dissertation draws valuable lessons in the implementation of social housing policies for industrial zone workers by the Ho Chi Minh City government. At the same time, it proposes a system of comprehensive and feasible solutions tailored to the practical conditions of Ho Chi Minh City. In particular, a breakthrough solution is to continue researching social housing policies and to propose to competent state authorities the supplementation and improvement of social housing policies for industrial zone workers.
